Roslyn is more than just one of the most desirable places in the country to raise a family—it's a village defined by deep community ties, civic pride, and a shared commitment to helping neighbors thrive. That's exactly the spirit embodied by the four Roslyn residents at Abrams Fensterman, LLP—Jordan Fensterman, Danielle Visvader, Moriah Adamo, and Jeffrey Nueman—who are not only distinguished attorneys, but also proud neighbors, parents, and active participants in local life. Abrams Fensterman's headquarters is just minutes away in Lake Success and the firm's heart beats right here in Roslyn. With over 25 years of legal excellence and more than 115 attorneys statewide, Abrams Fensterman is the go-to law firm for many of New York's top professionals and institutions. But for Roslyn families? It's also your law firm—thanks to these four exceptional individuals.

JORDAN FENSTERMAN: Champion for Healthcare Providers, Defender of Professionals, and Roslyn Preservationist

Jordan Fensterman wears many hats at Abrams Fensterman. As a Partner and Director of the firm's OPMC and OPD Defense Practices, he defends doctors, dentists, nurses, and other licensed professionals throughout New York State against regulatory investigations and disciplinary actions. He also provides corporate, litigation, and employment counsel to healthcare providers, businesses, and professional organizations.

But Jordan is more than just a powerhouse attorney—he's a proud Roslyn resident with a love for the area's rich historical character and charm. An active Board of Trustees member of the Roslyn Landmark Society, serving as a vice-president of the organization for many years, Jordan sees the town as a living historic timeline, where every home, landmark, artifact, and neighbor is part of a larger story worth preserving and protecting. Jordan, his wife Samantha, and their two children are very happy to call the Roslyn community home. Jordan is proud that his wife, Samantha, serves the Roslyn community as co-president of the Parent Faculty Association of East Hills elementary school.

"Roslyn is a special place with history in every brick and a strong sense of identity," Jordan says. "It's an honor to serve this community professionally and personally."

DANIELLE VISVADER: Guiding Families Through Guardianship with Compassion and Expertise

Known throughout the neighborhood as Danielle Pradas, Danielle is a trusted legal guide for families facing one of life's most difficult transitions—protecting aging or incapacitated loved ones. As a Partner in Abrams Fensterman's Guardianship Practice, Danielle leads clients through complex Article 81 proceedings and fiduciary real estate transactions.

"Living in Roslyn allows me to truly understand what matters to local families," Danielle shares. "This community is built on care, and I'm grateful to provide legal support that reflects those values."

With hundreds of guardianship cases under her belt, Danielle is one of New York's most experienced voices in this field. But what makes her especially beloved in Roslyn is her empathy, authenticity, and availability. She's not just a lawyer—she's a neighbor, a parent, and a familiar face at Harbor Hill School, Roslyn Middle School, and the Sid Jacobson JCC.

JEFFREY NEUMAN:
Litigation and Planning Attorney focusing on Trusts, Estates and Guardianships with a Heart
for the Community

Across all areas of trusts, estates and guardianships litigation, administration and planning, Jeffrey Neuman is the steady hand Roslyn families can rely on. As a Partner at Abrams Fensterman, Jeffrey's career is rooted in strategic and zealous advocacy to protect individuals, families and their legacies. His unique blend of litigation and estate planning expertise allows him to counsel families with comprehensive insight and heartfelt compassion.

“Being from Roslyn means I have a vested interest in my client's success,” Jeffrey says. “The families I represent are the same ones I see at school, at practice, or on a walk. I'm here to serve this community with everything I've got.”

Jeffrey is a Roslyn Little League board member, a father of three, and a familiar face on the ball fields, in the dance studios, and at the Sid Jacobson JCC. His ability to explain complex legal issues in a way that's relatable, personal, and effective has made him one of the most trusted attorneys in the area.

MORIAH ADAMO:
Leading Elder Law with Heart, Helping Roslyn
Families Age with Dignity

A statewide leader in elder law and estate planning, Moriah Adamo leads Abrams Fensterman's award-winning department in Lake Success. But her practice—helping families plan for aging, preserve assets, and protect dignity—is deeply rooted in the values she shares with her fellow Roslyn neighbors.

“Roslyn is where my family lives, works, and plays—and I want every resident to feel secure about their future,” Moriah says. “My job is to make legal planning as human and hopeful as possible.”

From helping seniors navigate complex Medicaid planning and appeals to ensuring families have clear and comprehensive estate plans, Moriah is passionate about turning difficult conversations into empowering moments. She regularly speaks at events hosted by the Gold Coast Rotary, Nassau County's Mental Health Awareness Initiative, and the Long Island Alzheimer's Association, offering education and clarity during uncertain times.
